The design charrette is a multi-day opportunity for property owners, business owners and Brattleboro residents to collaborate with a team of planners, landscape architects, and hydrologists to create a new vision for the Lower Whetstone Brook that responds to climate change. The charrette will focus on how to engage the community with the Whetstone Brook as an asset through thoughtful consideration of the character and scale of potential development along the Brook between the West and Williams Street and Main Street.

This work is sponsored by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) through their Smart Growth Implementation Assistance Program.
